

Join a LOMA Society!

LOMA Societies provide industry professionals with opportunities for continuing education and professional development. Established in 1943, LOMA Societies were created to promote continuing professional development, foster recognition of LOMA designations, and encourage professional, educational, and social relations among LOMA designees, students, and other insurance and financial services professionals.

Joining a LOMA Society will help you:

Enhance

essential leadership, communication and networking skills

Celebrate

your professional development achievements at recognition events while also supporting others through mentorship programs

Collaborate with other dynamic professionals

Give back to your community through Society-sponsored community service projects

Hear the latest in industry trends at Society functions

Take the next step toward success! To find your closest LOMA Society, email lomasociety@loma.org.
