A Virtual Way to Enhance Industry Knowledge

The Value of Training & Development

Employees will learn more about the importance of engaging in training and development opportunities throughout their careers and the benefits these courses can have on their professional development.

E-Learning Courses

In addition to LOMA's designation programs, LOMA offers short (15 minutes–2 hours in length) online courses through our eLearning Catalog covering various topics including business skills, human resources, management and leadership. This webinar focuses on LOMA's extensive short online course library, course topics, and various enterprise solutions.

Need 2 Know Courses

Two of LOMA's most popular offerings are the "Need 2 Know" courses. These online interactive courses are building blocks for employees' knowledge, starting with the basics of insurance and annuity products and expanding to company operations. This webinar covers what employees will learn, how Need 2 Know courses will benefit them, and how to get started.

Associate, Life Management Institute™ & Fellow, Life Management Institute™

The ALMI® & FLMI® designations are globally-recognized educational standards that equip professionals with an understanding of the core products, operations, and financial concepts frequently encountered within the industry. This webinar covers the courses, topics, and course formats in both the ALMI and FLMI programs.

Fellow, Secure Retirement Institute™

The Fellow, Secure Retirement Institute (FSRI™) offers a unique, comprehensive curriculum covering all elements of the retirement business; both individual and institutional. Associates will appreciate why 96% of learners would recommend FSRI when they hear about the value, scope and delivery of this popular designation.

Overview of LOMA Designations

As one of the most recognized and respected professional education institutions in the world, LOMA has a variety of courses and professional designation programs for employees in the life insurance and financial services industry. This webinar can help professionals discover a beneficial learning path. We are also able to conduct webinars on one specific designation or course format!

What Comes After the FLMI?

Employees who have earned their FLMI designation have reached a major professional development milestone and may be wondering: "What's next?" This webinar presents options available to those who have completed their FLMI designation.

LOMA Membership Benefits

With LOMA membership, companies and their employees can access proprietary information, get discounts for award-winning professional development courses, participate in prestigious and valuable committees, and more. This webinar focuses on the tools available to help employees meet business challenges.
